pondent writes : soppi't saning sation' "The recent death of Nuzillard, the senior cashier at the Comptoir d'Escompte, through whose hands more gold has passed than would buy up an empire, reminds me of the following story. Nuzillard had always enjoyed the renutation of being the most clever and at the same time most prudent cashier. However, in 1849 he managed to get robbed of a sum of £4,000 in £40 notes. The director of the Comptoir, although he had always had the greatest confidence in the often-tried probity of his clerk, still thinking it strange that he could have had so large a packet of notes taken from him without his knowledge, went to the Prefect of Police, M. Carlier, and told him all about it. The latter pronounced an opinion favorable to the honesty of poor Nuzillard .-'Remember,' said the director, 'that a hundred bank notes make quite a thick packet, and I cannot see how, with his packet on his breast - 'Nothing for a clever thief,' interrupted M. Carlier. 'Here is a newspaper; fold it, and button it, in your breast pocket. Now, I will

"The director laughed, and declared it was impossible, while he carefully placed the newspaper at the side of his pocket-book. The two gentlemen remained some time in conversation, during which the Prefect of Police was receiving people and writing orders. When the director rose to go, M. Carlier, after shaking hands with him, said: 'By the by, I suppose you have the newspaper all right! But, lo and behold! to the intense stupefaction of the director, both pocket-book and paper had disappeared, whereupon the Prefect rang the bell and the property was brought back by the amateur thief who had done the deed on a pencil-command from his master, and the astonished owner of the stolen pocket-book then and there declared his complete belief in his cashier's innocence."

not promise you it will still be there when you leave the Prefecture!

SIBERT'S PATENT-A SUCCESS. -The success of this discovery for converting Iron Ore into Cast Steel by a single operation in an ordinary Blast Furnace, is now established beyond controversy. Mr. Sibert, in a letter to Y. Howe Peyton, Esq., received on yesterday, and dated October 29th, uses the following language: "The experiment has been made, and the victory is ours. I made a cast of a rail last night at 12 o'clock, which proves to be a cast steel rail of the best quality, flexible, tenatious, adamantine face, of diamond hardness, just the thing we wanted." Mr. Sibert further states that "it is his purpose to lay a number of these rails on the track at Staunton, where the publie will be invited to witness and to pass judgment upon them." It is impossible to calculate the magnitude of this discovery, and its advantages to the world. It will cheapen the cost of the manufacture of steel at least fifty per cent, and revolutionize the iron business of every country on earth. Noble old Commonwealth of Virginia! Even in this the day of thy calamity, the silver lining of the future is visible, foreshadowing the near approach of that brighter dawn when thy dry places shall spring with wells of water and the desert blossom as the rose. - Staunton Spectator.

A FRENCH STORY. - A gentleman at Paris amusing himsel in the Palais Royal, observed, while he was carefully looking over some pamphlets at a bookseller's shop, a suspicious fellow stood rather too near him. The gentleman was dressed according to the fashion of the times, in a coat with a prodigious number of silver tags and tassels, upon which the thief began to have a design, and the gentleman, not willing to disappoint him, turned his head another way to give him an opportunity. The thief immediately set to work, and in a trice twisted off seven or eight of the silver tags. The gentleman perceived it, and drawing out a pen-knife, caught the fellow by the ear, and cut it off close to the head. "Murder! murder!" cried the thiet. "Robbery! robbery!" eried the gentleman. Upon this, the thief, in a passion, throwing them at the gentleman, roared, "There are your tags and buttons." "Very well," says the gentle-man, throwing it back in like manner, "There 18 your car.'

A VOICE FROM THE NORTH. -The Richmond Whig has received a letter from an influential Northern source, from which it makes the following extract:

"All agree that your only means of preventing further trouble from Hunnicutt and his ignorant followers is through white immigration. If your landowners are really awake to the dangers hanging over your State from this man Hunnicutt, they should at once make every effort to bring in white labor and settlers. Every possible inducement ought to be extended, and if an industrious immigrant has only sufficient means to buy implements—do not let him pass West—but give him a piece of land at a merely nominal price. I, for one, connot believed a large addition to stock of Onit brellas, comprising all grades of Cotton, Cambridge of Land brellas, comprising all grades of Cotton, Cambridge of Cotton, Ca believe that Hunnicutt nonsense can possibly rule white people anywhere on this continent. The sentiment of the North on this subject is too positive to be mistaken by any one endowed with common sense. The poor blacks will, however, be the sufferers.'

THE OPEN FIRE. -"1 am a firm believer, says Dr. Cuyler, "in the moral and spiritual influence of an open fire. To make home attractive, there must be somewhere in the house a common family rendezvous: and that ought to present a more radiant attraction than a black hole in the floor, through which hot air pours forth from a subterranean furnace. Men will fight for their altars and their firesides; but what orator ever invoked a burst of patriotism in behalf of steam pipes and registers? I never cease to be thankful that I was brought up beside the hickory fire of a rural farmhouse. PLASTER -350 tons PLASTER afloat, for sale by Oct 28—
